

BTAS Safety Policy

BTAS will adopt a “Just Culture”. in order to ensure the improvement of aviation safety, is to ensure the continuing availability of safety information so that appropriate and timely preventive action can be taken and aviation safety improved.

“Just Culture” is an essential element of a broader ‘Safety Culture’, which forms the basis of a robust Safety Management System (SMS).

BTAS provides a reliable, prompt and cost-effective service to its customers. Its safety and quality policy is based on the following. BTAS:

- Recognises that safety is the prime consideration in the aviation industry.
- Recognises that safety standards shall not be reduced by the commercial imperatives of the company.
- Applies human factors principles to all maintenance carried out by the company.
- Encourages all personnel to report maintenance related errors/incidents to meet Part 145 requirements.
- Recognises that compliance with procedures, quality standards and regulations is the duty of all personnel.
- Personnel have the duty to co-operate with all Quality Auditors.
- Shall ensure good use of resources and pay particular attention to detail in order to carry out correct maintenance at the first attempt
- Shall train all organisational staff to be aware of human factors and sets forth a continuous training program in this field.

Ronald Davy Brickerd
Accountable Manager